

Skype: Making a Test Call

Test calls are used to check the camera/audio on your computer. First, you'll need to log in to your Skype account (see the "Skype: Logging In" document if you don't know how to do that). Then click on the "Echo/ Sound Test Service" in your contacts list. "Echo/ Sound Test Service" automatically comes with your Skype account (you don't need to add them to your Skype account).

Then click the green "Call" button. You will be should be able to see yourself. An automated voice will tell you to record a message after the beep. Please do so. If your recording devices are working, the message will play back to you.

Congratulations! You have made a test call on Skype! 😊
